In a land called Illyria, there lives a powerful duke who wants to marry a rich woman named Olivia. Sadly, Olivia rejects his love, telling him that she cannot marry as she is still mourning the death of her brother and father. In truth, she does not love the duke at all.

Meanwhile, on the shores of Illyria, there is a shipwreck. A beautiful young woman, Viola, survives with a sea captain's help, but fears her twin brother, Sebastian, has drowned. "As a woman," she thinks, "how will I survive here alone?" The sea captain suggests she disguise herself as a man. She does this, names herself Cesario, and makes a new life for herself as a servant to the duke.

Soon after, Viola impresses the duke and wins his trust. She also falls deeply in love with him. Although the duke becomes very fond of his new servant, he believes that Viola is a man and therefore feels only friendship for her. "Please," the duke tells Viola, "help me win Olivia's love."

With a heavy heart, Viola meets Olivia and tells her about duke's affection for her. Unfortunately for the duke, Olivia thinks that Viola is a handsome man and decides that she doesn't want the duke; she wants Viola!

Unknown to Viola, her twin brother, Sebastian, survived the shipwreck with the help of the pirate Antonio, "My dear sister has drowned," Sebastian says sadly. "Now I must live all alone in Illyria." "You are not alone," Antonio tells him and offers his help. "Take this bag of gold and find lodgings for us." With plans to meet later, Sebastian and Antonio go their separate ways.

In the meantime, Viola is having problems. She runs into Andrew, another of Olivia's admirers. "I challenge you to fight for Olivia's love!" he cries. Viola panics as Andrew draws his sword and charges her, but Antonio suddenly appears.

Mistaking Viola for her brother, Antonio comes to the rescue. The duke's soldiers arrive, though, and take Antonio the pirate prisoner. "Give me the gold so I can buy my way out of jail," Antonio shouts to Viola. Of course, she knows nothing about the money, and Antonio is taken away. Viola wonders if perhaps Sebastian is alive after all, and Antonio has mistaken her for brother.

Later, Sebastian has his own run-in with Andrew, who mistakes him for Cesario, the duke's servant that Olivia loves. "You again!" Andrew shouts. "This time I will kill you, and Olivia will be mine."

Name: _____

Date: _____

Sebastian is confused. “I have no quarrel with you, sir,” he says, but Andrew does not believe him. Then Olivia arrives. She rushes to Sebastian’s side, thinking he is the duke’s servant. “I loved you the moment I laid eyes on you,” she says. “Please marry me, Cesario.”

Sebastian can’t believe his luck! A beautiful, rich woman is begging him to marry her. Although he knows she is mistaking him for someone else, he decides to play along and wed her.

A few days pass, and Viola accompanies the duke to Olivia’s, where he plans to ask for Olivia’s hand once again. Upon their arrival, Olivia sees Viola in men’s clothes and says, “My husband! Why have you left me alone all day?”

The duke is furious. “You’ve betrayed me, Cesario!” he shouts at Viola. When Viola declares her innocence, Olivia cries, “How can you deny me, my love?” Just then, Sebastian arrives.

“Sebastian!” Viola cries out in joy at seeing a her brother alive. She removes her disguise and hugs him. The duke, now seeing Viola as a woman, falls in love with her as deeply as she loves him. They embrace, and all the lovers live happily ever after.
