

After reading the stories on the book, the students can learn more about the moon. Those stories are very different from the ancient Chinese ones. We used to know "Chang's Flies to the Moon." But in this class, we learn stories from different culture. Th moon can be witty and so real. And the other characters play different roles in those stories also impressed the students. They were so shocked when they went through the stories. And they were even more influenced while they were playing the roles in the stories. After the class, they shared their unique experiences.