Suggestions:

1. Application:

After students' presentation about their assigned grammar chapters, ask them to make some sentences by applying the patterns to make sure that they can use them correctly and grammatically.

2. Peers' feedback:

Invite peers to offer each group some advice after their presentation to not only examine whether they have comprehended the concepts and rules but train their critical thinking and ability to reflect and learn from others.

3. Use of media:

To introduce the legend or the story, it's recommended to play some relevant videos to help students acquire clearer pictures or get to know the outline or the meanings behind faster and more efficiently.

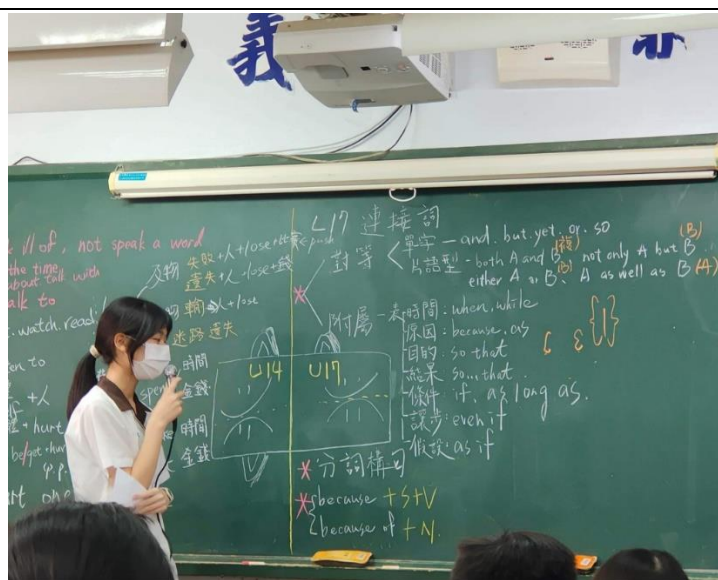

4. Comprehensive questions:

I can design some comprehensive questions to make sure whether students have followed up and are able to understand the contents. Or I can even bring up some questions for them to ponder over the messages behind the story.
