

The process of building up the background of students' cognition needs much patience to meet the following challenge because diligent learning attitude leads to promotion. I look forward to regarding the content as the initial input that arouses students' motivation of further experience with the global vision. So, making progress isn't just a slogan. To put the ideal teaching goal into practice, I still need much effort to struggle with students' worksheets and workbooks. Thus, possible chance of firmly being connected with culture interaction would be predicted. As for the procedure of the connection between vocabularies and grammar, students practice with peer activities that drills still play an inevitable role.
